

(A) Statement of Qualifications:

Ron Bigelow has served for the last eight years as the House Chair of Executive Appropriations - the state budget committee. He continues the tradition of keeping Utah as the best financially managed state in the nation. He has served for ten years in House leadership. This experience provides a strong voice for West Valley City on legislative issues.

Ron consistently works for realistic solutions to today's many challenges. He is a voice of reason who listens to all sides of an issue. He has supported and voted for: Fighting for public education funding; protecting children on the internet; improving east/west transportation in Salt Lake County; opposing tax increases; opening government to public view; limiting gifts to legislators; and requiring greater financial disclosure for legislators and lobbyists. He actively supports our firefighters and police officers.

Ron is also a small business owner and has many years of experience in accounting and budgeting. He grew up in Utah and is a graduate of Granger High School, Salt Lake Community College and the University of Utah. He is also a veteran of the United States Air Force.
